

The Association of African Universities (AAU), whose Headquarters is in Accra, Ghana, is pleased to announce a 2-day Quality Assurance workshop entitled:
Quality Assurance (QA) Knowledge and Skills for the 21st Century Higher Education Personnel & Higher Education Learner-Centred Teaching Skills for the 21st Century
Al Azhar University, Cairo, Egypt, 6th – 7th July, 2019

Workshop Theme 1: Revitalizing the 21st Century Higher Education Quality Assurance Personnel, Systems, Tools, Processes and Procedures,

Workshop Theme 2: Retooling the Higher Education Personnel through ICT and the Learner-Centred Teaching Approaches for the 21st Century

Preamble and Rationale

Virtually all development players now concur that for any meaningful and sustainable economic growth to be realized and sustained tertiary education must be centrally placed in the development agenda of nations. Countries around the world are striving to build the sector as part of their priority strategic development plan. Indeed, building a tertiary education system is no more a luxury but a national and continental imperative critical for Africa's development and global competitiveness. Quality and relevance of university education have emerged as serious concerns of the sector for some time now. In addition, worldwide research on teaching in Higher Education revealed that most of the institutional personnel do not have the knowledge and skills for quality assurance. The situation has been further aggravated by poor to no orientation and induction of new personnel but it is known that the reputation of an institution is at risk if there are perceptions of poor quality.

In that regard, institutional internal quality assurance mechanisms become more critical in the improvement of standards such that emphasis should be put on the streamlining of internal quality assurance mechanisms in higher and tertiary education. The key aspects of internal QA to be examined include quality assurance policy, staff development capacity, research performance, curriculum design and development, teaching and learning, student support including those with special needs, research performance, teaching and learning, effective university student assessment, infrastructure development, provision of quality education funding and budget constraints, negative attitude towards quality assurance, student-lecturer assessment, staff and management support towards the quality culture (Okoche, 2017; Ansah, 2015, Vukasovik, 2014).

The training workshop is guided by some of the priority areas agreed upon in the Declaration and Action Plan of the 1st Higher Education Summit on Revitalizing Higher Education for Africa's Future held in Dakar, Senegal (10-12 March, 2015) which include the improvement of Higher Education quality in the 21st Century. Therefore, AAU believes that there are opportunities for us to continue working together to jumpstart and energize superior quality assurance practices in African Higher Education (HE). The training workshop seeks to fulfil some of the Continental Education Strategy for Africa (CESA)'s 12 strategic objectives which are in line with revitalizing the quality of all aspects of Higher Education. The workshop also creates a platform to deliberate on the upcoming continental standards and guidelines (ASG-QA) as well as the African Quality Rating Mechanism (AQRM) institutional evaluation tool. Both are part of the Pan African Quality Assurance Framework (PAQAF).

Some of the challenges to be addressed by the training workshop are associated with:

- ✦ Sensitization and bringing awareness of what quality in higher education is all about and the current continental and regional activities related to quality assurance.
- ✦ Resistance to quality assurance practices and activities in institutions as well as slow acceptance rate of quality assurance in general by the higher education community.
- ✦ The formulation of a quality assurance unit/department/directorate including policy, manual and robust QA management system.
- ✦ Strategies for developing and promoting a quality culture in institutions through education and training of management, staff and students.
- ✦ The integration of quality assurance into the university system.
- ✦ Assuring adherence to quality assurance practices by the institutional community.
- ✦ Formulation of instruments to set up, check, control and maintain quality in a HEI.

- † The development of knowledge and skills for higher education quality assurance personnel because they are recruited with no due consideration of QA qualifications.
- † The development of knowledge and skills for higher education personnel (lecturers, registrars, deans, chairpersons) because they are the custodians of quality in departments, faculties, student enrolments, staff recruitments, record keeping and examination process.
- † Communication, Documentation and Data Collection in quality assurance for record keeping as well as monitoring and evaluation of both students and staff.

N/B: It has since been noted that throughout the world, institutions realize the challenges associated with working with personnel who are not trained QA specialists/experts. It is against this background that the AAU is providing the short 2-day intensive training course on quality assurance for higher education personnel to equip personnel with the foundations for effective higher and tertiary QA through the areas listed above.
